

Why to buy your supplements from an authorized healthcare provider?

As part of your nutritional care program which mainly based on real foods, we often recommended that you purchase nutritional supplements to support you achieving your Balance point. These may include specific vitamins, minerals, herbs, natural plant-base hormones, and various other products. All of the supplements we recommended are sourced and manufacture from nutrition companies that only sell their products to licensed nutritional practitioners.

Not All Supplements Are Equal

Mor's Nutrition supplements are the highest quality products available. They are containing ONLY the purest pharmaceutical grade nutrients (nutraceuticals) and the potency of each product is guaranteed.

A bit of Background

In the past, when designing nutritional programs, in an effort to save clients' money, many practitioners have suggested that clients like you will purchase products at local health stores or later on online. While this seems to save people money in the short run, the results of these programs have been inconsistent and less than would be expected had we been using physician-only brands. Therefore, it is in many ways more sensible both financially and in terms of consistent results to use the highest quality products available.

Consistent Results

You may purchase most of your nutritional supplements directly in our clinic or in our online store. In so doing, you can be assured of consistent results – if a specific protocol is not working we will know it is not the quality or potency of the nutrients that is slowing the healing process. All of the supplements Mor's Nutrition carry have been proven clinically effective by hundreds of individuals and researches. These ingredients have been shown to help resolve individuals' health concerns with predictable outcomes. In addition to proven clinical results, these products have also been carefully scrutinized for effectiveness based on lab testing. Thousands of practitioners have used lab tests to determine nutritional effective. In fact, the vast majority of supplements on the market are not effective as evidenced by lack of individuals' improvement on follow-up lab testing.

The sold supplements are manufactured and distribute exclusively to qualified practitioners' professionals. The supplements we use are scientifically formulated to support specific aspects of health and are recommended by professional who understand it. Unfortunately, online retails such as Amazon, eBay, Craigslist etc are NOT authorized in most cases to sell the supplements Mor's nutrition carry.

Quality and Safety is Guarantee

Unauthorized online stores might sell products that are:

Old, Expired or Past their freshness date – many products have often lost potency and likely will not meet label claim for listed ingredients

Counterfeit Products – many unscrupulous individuals sell products with unknown ingredients and quality, and label them with counterfeit labels of brand name manufacturers. These counterfeit products are often sold online as a “discount”.

Damaged Goods – with broken seals, lack of environmental controls, or previously opened and resealed for sale. Unscrupulous individuals may attempt to dump damaged products by selling them online at discount.

Sold by “Bait and Switch” - since companies Mor's Nutrition and More use have one of the most desirable brands in the supplement market, resellers often market these company brand online, even though they don't have it available to sell. Once the buyer calls they are often told that the brand is not available (bait). An inferior brand is then offered as an alternative (switch).

Our office is authorized seller of the brands use. We stand behind the quality and purity of every product we sell. Our purpose in offering these products is to help you achieve optimum health. We encourage you to utilize products that you can trust from this office or from any authorized healthcare provider.
